

I congratulate the recent 9th Circuit Court's decision to force cable companies to open their networks to independent ISP's. While it is true at the macro level that there is "competition" for broadband here in Tucson, if you examine the neighborhoods individually, you find it is NOT true that most consumers have a real choice for broadband. This decision opens the way for indep ISP's to offer competitive services and to let the customer decide who is best. Please support this direction and give customers more choices!
